

Planning a Bible Study

My friend, Jessica, and I are planning to collaborate on a study of 1 and 2 Peter. In preparation for this study, our weekly Bible study (the Scripture Sisters) studied 1 and 2 Peter in the fall. I have never collaborated on a Bible study before, so I am looking forward to this experience.

Jessica is intelligent and a very committed Bible scholar. She is also a gifted teacher. We have met several times over coffee to discuss our plans, but setting aside time to actually write the study has been difficult. So we planned a "writing retreat" for May 11-13. We have reserved a house at Lake Texhoma, away from all the distractions. We are both studying the Scripture and related commentaries to prepare for this retreat.

I have not created any content or questions yet for this study, but these pictures are a sampling of the notes I took during our Scripture Sisters discussions.

Our church is tentatively planning for Jessica and me to teach our study in the Spring of 2024. As I have done with the other studies I've written, we will self-publish our study.
